WAITING FOR YOU

Waiting for You

Brought together by a complex chain of events, Kadir and Ayliz are destined to become entwined in an enchanting love story interspersed with family suffering and passions that have their roots in a deadly earthquake which Kadir's mother was caught up in several decades ago.

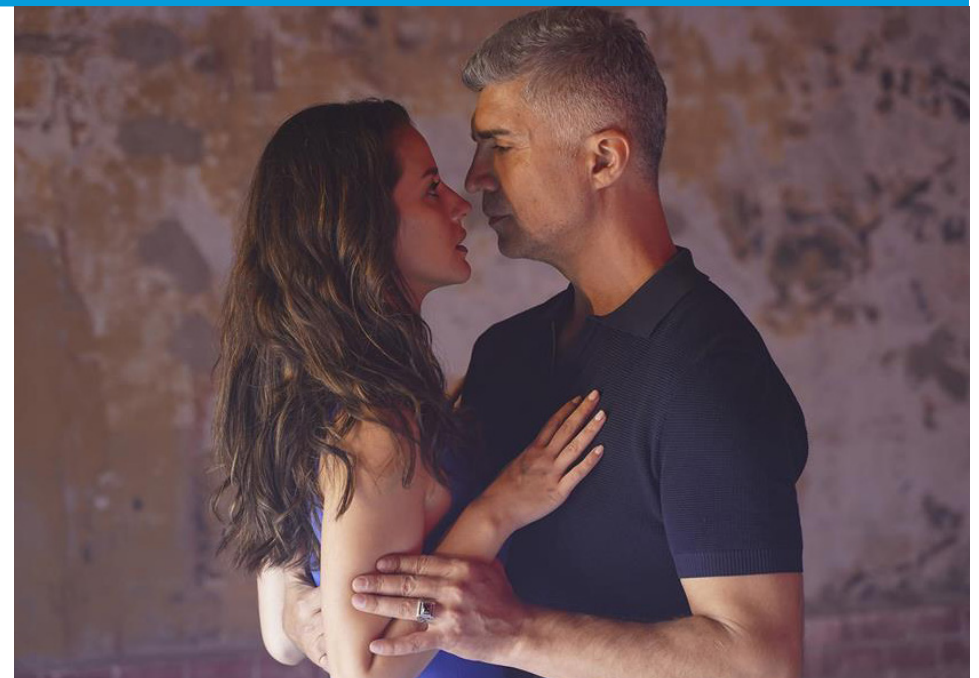

His mother Mihre leaves her wealthy Istanbul family when she falls in love with a soldier and flees with him to Erzincan in eastern Turkey. Kadir is born there and his name is inscribed on the fateful ring which brought his parents together. But in his youth, the family is ripped apart by an earthquake which strikes as Mihre gives birth to a second son.

In the subsequent chaos, Mihre loses her family and wakes in her father Davut's house in Istanbul, having been saved by Cemal, his business partner. Cemal's friend has just given birth to twins and he deceives Mihre, presenting the baby Erol to her as if it were her son. Unknown to Cemal, Erol has a sister named Ayliz.

One year after the earthquake, Kadir finds Mihre and Erol in Istanbul, but refuses to live with them when she marries Cemal. Kadir leaves for Doha and it is there, years later, that he meets Ayliz, the fiancée of a business partner. Again it is that ring on his finger which brings them fatefully together and they spend a few magical days in Doha together before she must leave.

When he gets a call from his grandfather Davut, asking him to return, Kadir travels to Istanbul. On his arrival, Davut reveals that Erol is not his real grandson. This in turn leads to a dispute between Davut and Cemal which ends in tragedy when Davut dies, leaving the whole family in grief.

With feelings of family responsibility, Kadir abandons his life in Doha and returns permanently to Istanbul to help Mihre, who is devastated by the death of her father. At Davut's funeral, Kadir is shocked to see Ayliz again, just days before her wedding. His belief in destiny is reinforced when she pulls out of the wedding at the last moment.

Their lives are complicated further by the arrival in Istanbul of Selahattin, Mihre's real second son, who was adopted by a family in Erzincan after the earthquake. He too attends Davut's funeral, unaware that the deceased is actually his grandfather, and is set to get drawn into the web that the family has weaved.

Against this emotionally fraught background, it is Kadir who faces the real challenge of bringing order to his complex family. As he recognizes the deep love he feels for Ayliz and strives to meet the responsibilities thrust upon him, the two become drawn deeper into love and seek to build a new happier life.
